

American Philosophical Quarterly

Style Sheet

updated November 2025

1

Use Chicago Manual of Style, 18th edition (although some of the following rules may differ from Chicago style).

Use Merriam-Webster's 11th Collegiate Dictionary.

Abstracts are now used in this journal. Use heading: Abstract. Should not contain citations.

Keywords. Provide up to five keywords with your submission.

Acknowledgments (optional) appear unnumbered before numbered Notes entries in Notes section, not indented.

Affiliation of author (university name) appears after the article Conclusion and before Notes or References [Flush right, italics] The corresponding author's affiliation and contact information (institutional postal address plus work e-mail address) should be provided.

Figures: Figure 1. Figure captions are capitalized in sentence style and with a period.

Callouts in text: in Figure 1 (see Fig. 1), coded between paragraphs as <insert Figure 1 about here>

Contractions can be used.

Headings style (outline format, numbered, unnumbered, etc.) varies with author. When referring to sections of the article in the text, use "section" (no CAP, no abbrev.)

1. Level-one heading

1.1 Level-two heading

Lists: Numbers or letters for lists should be enclosed on both sides by parentheses

Pronouns: Gender-neutral pronouns may be used. See CMS (5.48: Singular "they"). First-person pronouns okay when describing the paper ("I advance the following argument in this paper ..."), but try to avoid second person pronouns ("you," "your," etc.).

Tables: Table 1. Table captions are capitalized in sentence style but do not end with a period

Grammar and Copyediting

Abbreviations

- Use "and" (instead of &, except in publisher's official name, e.g., Harper & Row)
- Spell out all but the most common acronyms and abbreviations at first mention
- Avoid beginning a sentence with an acronym or abbreviation or numeral!
- Time: Use a.m. and p.m. (6:45 p.m.; 5 a.m.)
- It's okay to use contractions

- Use “e.g.” and “i.e.” followed by a comma and only within parentheses—no italics; in text, spell out “for example” and “that is,” respectively. In text, spell out “viz” as “namely,” “cf.” as “compare.”
- If the “section” symbol is used, it should be followed by first a nonbreaking space (Ctrl + shift + space bar) and then the section number: § 5

Numbers and dates

- 1980s, mid-1980s, late 1960s (“sixties” is okay too); 55 BC and AD 1900
- Centuries: twentieth century, twenty-first century
- 1980-1983 (use hyphen and do not abbreviate as 1980-83); hyphen between numbers will be automatically changed to en-dash
- time: 10 p.m. 3:36 a.m.
- 10 percent (use numeral and spell out “percent”; do not use % symbol unless there are numerous percent references throughout the paper, then use, e.g., 10%)
- 1,368 (use comma); $5,000
- 25 million
- age sixty-five, a five-year-old (noun, adj.), but he is five years old
- pp. 380-389 (do not drop out digits)
- Spell out numbers one through ninety-nine and round numbers (e.g., “one hundred thousand”) except for parallel style within a sentence containing a numeral; use numerals for measurements (1 inch, 57 miles, etc.) or equations (spell out units of measurement in text too)
- Spell out ordinals (“third”) except in References edition (3rd edition; not 3rd)
- Numbers for numbered lists are preferably enclosed in parentheses
- Preferred format for a numbered list that is run-in to the text: (1) ..., (2) ..., and (3) ...

Punctuation

- Use serial comma (a, b, and c)
- No periods in upper case acronyms or abbreviations (FBI, URL); US (adjective only), UN
- Use single quotes inside double quotes “ ”; do not use single quotation marks as “scare quotes” or to denote a word as a word
- Period and comma are placed before close quotation mark:
He said, “Please leave.” “Go away,” he said.
- Use comma before and after “Jr.” (e.g., Martin Luther King, Jr., is my hero)
- Do not capitalize the first word of a single sentence following a colon (unless it is dialogue, or it signals or introduces more than one sentence)
- Hyphens are used before a capitalized word, or to prevent mispronunciation (non-science, co-morbidity) or misreading (anti-intellectual), or to emphasize the prefix
- No hyphen is used when an adverb ending in -ly modifies an adjective: a terribly hot day
- Use comma before “because” only if what follows is nonrestrictive (it usually is not used because it breaks up the causal relationship between the two clauses)

- It is okay to use contractions
- If a name ends in “s,” then the possessive form uses an apostrophe followed by another “s.”: James’s early writings”

References (modified from Chicago Manual of Style)

- Section subhead is “References”
- References section follows Notes section (if both are used)
- Use headline style caps for article and book titles
- Spell out journal titles, but omit “The”
- Spell out names of months in citations
- Use US Postal state abbreviations
- Include “UK” but do not use any country names in References
- Use initials with a space between them (Key, J. S.) but only abbreviate first name if full name is not available or is not used in publications
- Use all digits (use hyphen although it will be changed to an en-dash in typesetting) in page ranges (pp. 136-149)
- Two or more works by one author: use ----- (six hyphens) and sort by year, earliest first; same author and multiple works for the same year, use 2004a, 2004b, etc. (ordered alphabetically by title)
- n.d. for “no date”
- Access date only needed for online-material citations if source’s text is periodically updated or revised
- After seven authors have been listed for one source, use “et al.”
- (2nd edition) follows title

References, sample entries: (underline denotes italics in final version)

Book:

Gutmann, Amy, and Dennis Thompson. 1996. Democracy and Disagreement (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press).

Sosa, Ernest. 2007. Apt Belief and Reflective Knowledge, Vol. 1: A Virtue Epistemology (Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press).

Misak, Cheryl. 2004. Truth and the End of Inquiry (2nd edition). (Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press).

Book, edited

Scheffler, Samuel. 2013. Death and the Afterlife. Ed. Niko Kolodny (Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press).

Oates, Whitney, ed. 1938. The Complete Greek Drama (New York: Random).

Book, translated

Hegel, G. W. F. 1971. “Fragment on Love,” in Early Theological Writings. Trans. T. M. Knox and Richard Kroner (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press), pp. 302-308.

Book, reprint (of earlier edition; in edited collection):

Mill, John Stuart. 1859. On Liberty and Other Essays (Repr., Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press, 1998).

in text: (Mill 1859/1998, p. 5) page numbers quoted are from reprint; if they're from the original, do not list the reprint at all

Locke, John. 1689. "A Letter Concerning Toleration," in Two Treatises of Government and A Letter Concerning Toleration, ed. Ian Shapiro (New Haven, CT: Yale University Press, 2003), pp. 36-51.

Chapter:

Benn, Stanley I. 1971. "Egalitarianism and the Equal Consideration of Interests," in Justice and Equality (2nd edition), ed. Hugo A. Bedau (Englewood Cliffs, NJ: Prentice Hall), pp. 157-160.

Introduction to a book:

Benacerraf, Paul, and Hilary Putnam. 1983. Introduction to Philosophy of Mathematics: Selected Readings (2nd edition), ed. Paul Benacerraf and Hilary Putnam (New York: Cambridge University Press), pp. 1-40.

Volume of a set:

Burge, Tyler. 1979. Midwest Studies in Philosophy, Studies in Metaphysics, Vol. IV: Individualism and the Mental, ed. Peter A. French, Theodore E. Uehling, Jr., and Howard K. Wettstein (Minneapolis, MN: University of Minnesota Press).

Dissertation:

Strawser, Bradley. 2012. "The Bounds of Defense: Moral Responsibility, Autonomy, and War." PhD diss., University of Connecticut.

Article:

Darwall, Stephen L. 1977. "Two Kinds of Respect," Ethics, vol. 88, no. 5, pp. 136-149.

Doe, John. 1999. "The Folklore of Fear," in "Folklore and Power," ed. Jane Doe, special issue, Journal of Folklore and Society, vol. 19, no. 5, pp. 3-26.

Wallis, Claudia. 1996. "Faith and Healing," Time, June 24. pp. 58-64.

Boaz, David, Jr. 1997. "Privatize Marriage," Slate, April 25.
<http://www.slate.com/id/2440/>.

Wringe, W. Forthcoming. "Prepunishment, Communicative Theories of Punishment, and Compatibilism," Pacific Philosophical Quarterly.

in text: (Wringe, forthcoming)

Book review:

Sorby, Angela. 1987. Review of Songs of Ourselves: The Uses of Poetry in America, by Joan Shelley Rubin, American Historical Review, vol. 113, no. 4, pp. 449-451.

Article without author (use title first):

“In Texas, Ad Heats Up Race for Governor,” 2002. New York Times, July 30.
<http://www.nytimes.com/2002/07/30/us/in-texas-ad-heats-up-race-for-governor.html>.

Conference proceedings

Collins, Nick. 2002. “Relating Superhuman Virtuosity to Human Performance,” Proceedings of MAXIS, Seffield Hallam University, Sheffield, UK, April 12-14.

In-Text Citation when using a References list

- Use et al. for more than three authors in parenthetical text citation and in text
- (Bohman 1996, pp. 125, 126, 129; Young and Smith 2003, p. 103)
- (Smith 1997a; 1997b)
- (Clark 1997; Wilson 2004; Shapiro 2011)
- text cit. for footnotes or endnotes: (Smith 2003, p. 23n14)
- Scriptural: 2 Corinthians 11:29-30
- Secondary sources: use “quoted in”: (quoted in Bohman 1996, p. 45)
- Reprint: (Mill 1859/1998, p. 5) page numbers quoted are from reprint; if they’re from the original, do not list the reprint at all

Endnotes

- Section subhead is “Notes”
- Notes section precedes References section (if both are used)
- Try to use one superscript number per sentence (there will be cases where using more cannot be avoided); never place two superscript numbers in the same place—combine Note text instead.
- Try to place superscript number after punctuation (except em-dash, place before)
- For sources that have more than three authors, use “et al.” in Notes section

When Endnotes and References Are Both Used

- Notes section precedes References section
- In Notes and text, within and outside of text citation, use “et al.” for three or more authors
- Book or article cited in Notes, referring to a References entry:
 1. _Moore (1999, pp. 475-476).
 2. _See Rawls (2001, p. 34).
 3. _See Kleingeld (2000, p. 46); Keller (2005, p. 3).
 4. _Compare Williamson (2000); DeRose (2002); Weiner (2005).

5. _ See Hunt and Shabo (2013, p. 45) for an objection along these lines.

Endnotes, sample entries for ENDNOTES WHEN THERE IS NO REFERENCES

SECTION: (underline denotes italics in final version)

Book, first mention:

1. _ Paul Peterson, The Politics of School Reform 1870-1940 (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1985), p. 5.
2. _ Don Smith and Sam Stone, Law and Democracy: A Guide for Students (Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 2007), p. 32.
3. _ G. E. M. Anscombe, Intention (1957; Repr., Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 2000), p. 84.

Book, second mention:

4. _ Smith and Stone, Law and Democracy, p. 35.
5. _ C. Stephen Evans and R. Zachary Manis, Philosophy of Religion, 2nd edition (Downers Grove, IL: IVP Academic, 2009), p. 205.
6. _ See Peterson (Politics, p. 81) for further discussion.

Chapter:

6. _ Tom Jones, "The War on Terror," in A Matter of Principle, ed. Sam Levinson (Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press, 2004), pp. 691-699, quote: 693.

Article, first mention (magazine, journal, newspaper, online magazine, online newspaper):

7. _ Jane Mayer, "Letter from Hollywood," New Yorker (February 19, 2007), p. 98.
8. _ Edward Martin, "Oil in the Middle East," Ethics, vol. 22, no. 3 (2008), p. 21.
9. _ Kenneth Kidd, "Why We Place Ourselves in Harm's Way: On the 'Moral Hazard' of Hurricanes," Toronto Star (September 4, 2005), p. D5.
10. _ John Stossell, "Confessions of a Welfare Queen," Reason (March 2004), <http://www.reason.com/0403/fe.js.confessions.shtml>.
11. _ Gretchen Morgenson, "Moral Hazard Tossed Out As Fed Saves Bear Stearns," International Herald Tribune (March 16, 2008), <http://www.iht.com/articles/2008/03/16/business/morg.php>.

Article, second mention:

12. _ Martin, "Oil in the Middle East," p. 32.

Article without author (use publication name as author):

13. _ New York Times, "In Texas, Ad Heats Up Race for Governor" (July 30, 2002), <http://www.nytimes.com/2002/07/30/us/in-texas-ad-heats-up-race-for-governor.html>.

Online reference work:

14. _ The Concise Encyclopedia of Economics, s.v. "Insurance" (by Richard Zeckhauser), <http://www.econlib.org/> (accessed October 21, 2008).
15. _ "Realized Wannabe," BIID-Info.org (last modified on February 11, 2011), <http://biid-info.org/Category:Glossary>.

Legal citations (no italics used for case names in endnote citations):

16. _Campione v. Adamar of New Jersey, Inc., A-125/126/160-97 (S. Ct. of New Jersey 1998).

17. _United States v. Gaudin, 515 U.S. 506 (1995).

18. _United States v. Burkhart, 501 F. 2d 999 (6th Cir. 1994).

Legal citation uses italics for case names in text [although set without italics in Notes], and is not found in References list.

Broadcast:

19. _Randy Cohen, "The Ethicist: How Much Hurricane Help Is Enough?" on All Things Considered, National Public Radio (August 2, 2005).

Film out on DVD:

20. Joe Versus the Volcano, directed by John Patrick Shanley (1990; Burbank, CA: Warner Home Video, 2002), DVD.

Letter of correspondence, archived online:

21. _David Berkowitz, letter to Police Captain Joseph Borrelli (April 17, 1977), http://www.crimelibrary.com/serial_killers/notorious/berkowitz/letter_1.html.

Dissertation:

22. _Kevin Vallier, "Liberal Politics and Public Faith: A Philosophical Reconciliation" (PhD diss., University of Arizona, 2011).

Word List

2-D

3-D

Achilles' heel

acknowledgment

ad hoc (no italics); ad hockery

advisor

aka (also known as)

akrasia

à la

analogue (but “analog” in electronics)

APQ in text no italics

a posteriori

a priori

apriorism, apriorist, aprioristic, apriority

assertable

axe-murderer

backstory

backwards

benefited; benefiting

better-off

the Bible but biblical bona fide

by-product

catalog

C.E.

ceteris paribus

chap. in Refs. and text (parentheses in text and notes) for “chapter”

closed-minded

common sense (noun is two words)

commonsense (adj. is one word)

complementary to ...

co-refer; co-referential

counter-argument

counterevidence

counterexample

counterintuitive

creedal

database

day care

daydreaming

decade: for example: the sixties or the 1960s

de dicto

de facto

de jure

de re

decision making (noun)

decision-making (adjective)

dialogue

die-hard (adj.); diehard (noun)

dissociate

double-talk

drug-use; drug-user

dyad (except for author Tegtmeier)

e.g. do not use in text (except in parentheses, followed by a comma)

e-mail

end point

enquiry: use “inquiry”

etc. do not use in text (except in parentheses); use “and so on” or “and so forth”

ether

ever changing

Extended Mind Hypothesis

façade

face-to-face

fallibilism

ff. (and following pages): (pp. 55ff.)

firsthand

flaky

focused

forebears (pl. noun)

forego (“to go before”); cf. forgo (“to do without”)

formulas (not formulae)

Francophone

fulfill; fulfillment

gerund preceded by a preposition with a pronoun or noun in-between: noun or pronoun is in objective case (not possessive form): Examples: She was worried about her daughter going there alone. I won't put up with him being criticized.

Gettierized (belief, knowledge, etc.)

good-bye

goodwill

Grandfather Paradox

hand in hand

hard-line

hardworking honeybee

ibid.: This is no longer used. In electronic formats that link to one note at a time, ibid. risks confusing the reader. Instead use the shortened form, like this:

Note number period Author last name comma Short title in italics comma page number period.

36. Jones, What I know, 23.

i.e. do not use in text (except in parentheses, followed by a comma)

inquiry

insofar

inter alia

Internet

ipso facto

judgment

km

knowledge first (adj.)

knowledge-the

knowledge-wh

knowledgeable

labeled, labeling

life history

lifelong lifesaving (noun and adj.)

linchpin

long-standing

lovable

lowbrow

meager
meta-ethics
meta-level
meta-linguistic meta-ontology
metaphysical metasemantic mind-set
modeled; modeling
modus ponens
multi-location
multi-tasking

naïve, naïveté
nation-state
natural kind terms
natural kinds externalism
neither is singular and requires a singular verb: “Neither of the two phones is working” Neoplatonic; Neoplatonism
neopragmatist
nonassentist
noncausal
non-existence
nonhistoricism
nonhuman
nonlinear
nonmoral
non-occurrent
non-philosophers; non-philosophical nonreductive
nonresponsibility
nonspecific
nontrivial
non-wellfounded/ but well-founded okay outward overarching

p-values do not require the leading zero before the decimal point

pace

Part 1, Part 2

payoff

percent: spell out in running text: % in math equations or discussions, and in Tables

per se

PhD

precondition

pre-emptive

pre-linguistic

premise, premises

presuppose

prima facie

pro tanto

program

promisor

push-pin

qua

qualia

racecar

reductio

regard (“in regard to,” etc.)

re-examine

reinterpretation

reinvigorate

ring-fence (noun, verb)

section (in text, not capitalized and use numeral: section 4, or section IV); use space after symbol

§ 2; sec. (parenthetical)

sense-data

sensorimotor

setup (noun)

shareable

[sic] is used to indicate an error in the source

side effect

simpliciter

Simpson’s paradox

sizable

skeptic; skeptical

smartphone
space-time
spatiotemporal
story line
subclass
subject-matter
subregion
sui generis
swath

Table 1 (capitalized in text and parentheses and captions)

“that” is restrictive; “which” is nonrestrictive

theater timbre
time travel
tout court toward trade-off (noun)
traveler
truthmaker
truth-teller
twofold

US (adj. only)
user-friendly

variables: letters indicating mathematical variables are set in italics

value judgment
vice versa
vis-à-vis
viz.: use “namely” instead

Washington, DC
website
well-being well-off
“which” is nonrestrictive; “that” is restrictive;

willpower
worldview

World War II (or the Second World War)
worse-off

X-ray
x's (plural of x)